

Newbury Geology Society

GENERAL DATA PROTECTION REGULATION (GDPR) POLICY

We will communicate with you by email, phone, text or post (normally we will use email).

We hold your information on a password protected computer. Our policy is to use your contact details to inform you of NGS events or other news which we think will be of interest to you. This will usually be geology related, but could possibly include information on other matters where we think it will be of benefit to you – for example if we have negotiated a special concession for members, whether geology related or not. We will normally only phone you in an emergency; for example in the event of an evening class or day trip being cancelled at short notice, or if you become detached from the group during a field meeting.

We will not pass your details on to any other organisation. However, we will use group emails to contact you, so your email may occasionally become available to other members. You must only use this information to contact other members regarding NGS activities. If you feel that you have information which would be of general interest to NGS members, please email the Secretary at secretary@newburygeology.org.uk, who will circulate it to the membership if considered appropriate.
